"NOT A CANDIDATE" HYDE SAYS TODAY

INSTRUCTIONS PART OF PROGRAM TWO MONTHS AGO

W. C. PIERCE HONORED

Maryville Man is Selected as Delegate-at-Large From Missouri—Administration Slate Wins

Springfield, Mo., April 30—Governor Arthur M. Hyde announced today he was not a candidate for the vice-presidency, and that his friends did not plan to ask other state delegates to support him for the nomination.

The instruction for the governor, it was generally known in political circles, was the carrying out of a program of administration forces planned two months ago. This program contemplated the appointment of Asa W. Butler of Albany as Coolidge's campaign manager in Missouri, which came to pass, and the election of Dr. E. B. Clements of Macon as Republican national committeeman to succeed Jacob L. Babler of St. Louis.

Babler is not a candidate to succeed himself, and Dr. Clements claims he has sufficient pledges to assure his election as committeeman, when the Missouri delegation meets in Cleveland.

Springfield, April 30—The state administration slate of delegates-at-large to the Cleveland convention was elected last night by the Republican state convention with little opposition. They are:

W. C. Pierce of Maryville; Governor Arthur M. Hyde; Senator S. P. Spencer; R. R. Brewster of Kansas City; Louis P. Aloe of St. Louis; Mrs. W. R. Haight of Brandsville; and Mrs. Sylvester Wells of Kansas City.

After having failed to land a negro among the delegates-at-large, convention leaders indorsed three on the slate for alternate delegates-at-large, and all were elected. The alternates are: J. G. Hughes, T. W. Hukriede, Mrs. Frank P. Hays and Harry Knight all white, and K. Kyle, W. L. McKee and J. L. Gaston, negroes.

The convention named the following electors-at-large: J. C. Parrish, Vandalia; Roscoe C. Patterson, Springfield.

The convention also ratified the district selection for the presidential electors, Mrs. Donna Sisson Eek of Maryville being the elector selected for the fourth district.

The only opposition to the slate came from negro delegates. Walthall Moore of St. Louis, who was removed Tuesday night from the slate for delegate-at-large, nominated the Rev. J. L. Custon of Columbia, a negro. No negro was on the list of delegates-at-large approved by the convention leaders.

The name of Mr. Pierce was presented to the convention by Bert G. Voorhees of St. Joseph.

Missouri delegates to the Republican national convention were instructed to vote for Calvin Coolidge for president and Governor A. M. Hyde for vice-president.

A general attack on the Klu Klux Klan, although not mentioned by name, and indorsement of Senator Spencer and all the Republican representatives in congress also were in the resolutions.

The Ku Klux Klan plank says the Republican party has "no sympathy with any movement to foster religious or racial hatred." It declared such questions were not political and "had no place in civic life" and "no good can be done by discussing them in the heat of a political campaign." the resolutions expressed "unalterable opposition to any organization or movement which proscribes any class of citizens because of birth, religion, race or color."

The selection of W. C. Pierce of Maryville as one of the seven delegates-at-large from Missouri to the Republican national convention at Cleveland is the second time Mr. Pierce has been honored by the Republicans as delegate-at-large. Twenty years ago Mr. Pierce was selected as one of the four delegates-at-large to the Chicago convention which nominated Theodore Roosevelt for president. At the Chicago convention Mr. Pierce was named as a member of the notification committee to inform Mr. Roosevelt of his nomination by that convention.

Mr. Pierce is one of the leaders of

Sheriff Roach Went After the Boys This Morning—On Charge of Grand Larceny

William Laughlin and William Hardesty, Maryville boys, are held by the police at Adrian, Mo., in Bates County, for Sheriff Steve Roach of this county. These boys are wanted here on a charge of grand larceny, being charged with stealing a Drive-It-Yourself Ford coupe of this city. Sheriff Roach left today in a car accompanied by Claud Wilson and will bring the boys and the car they took back here.

Laughlin rented the car about 10 o'clock Sunday night at the Drive-It-Yourself station here. He put up a check for $10 as deposit and when Laughlin failed to bring the car back the check was presented and was turned down on account of Laughlin having no funds on deposit.

Laughlin was sentenced to the reform school at circuit court on February 9, 1923, when he entered a plea of guilty to forgery. His sentence was for two years but he was paroled a few months ago and since that time has been in Maryville. It is said his parole will not be revoked but he will be sentenced on the grand larceny charge.

CHILDREN'S CHORUS FEATURE THIS YEAR

MADE UP OF 200 VOICES FROM GRADE SCHOOLS.

MANY SEATS RESERVED

Reservation Closes Friday Evening—Oswald and Corigliano to Play Next Thursday Evening.

About two-thirds of the seats in the College auditorium have been reserved with season tickets for Music Week, the seat sale at Kuehs Brothers showed this afternoon. This indication points to a full house by the time of the opening number next Sunday. The sale of season tickets will close Friday evening, May 2 and the sale of single admission tickets will start Saturday morning.

A new feature of the week's program this year will be the concert Thursday evening, Alfredo Oswald, the Brazilian pianist and John Corigliano, the Italian violinist, with a children's chorus of 200 voices from the grade schools of Maryville. Mr. Gardner has been training these children since last September. In addition to the singing by the chorus Corigliano and Oswald will play to the children. Oswald will play a series of pieces entitled, "The Baby's Family," by Lobus, describing the different types of dolls. There will be dolls of every kind and color, mood, and quality and each will be described very colorfully by the music. The music will depict the wooden doll, the flexible rubber doll, the breaking of the porcelain doll and the crying of the heart-broken baby. Lobus uses all popular Brazilian themes and songs.

The children's chorus will give eight songs. Mr. Gardner believes in the idea of training singers properly from the primary up through the higher grades. The remainder of the program will be a complete group of solo and ensemble numbers by Corigliano and Oswald.

Conception College to Have Homecoming

The secretary of the Conception College Alumni Association announced to the Alumni that a big home coming day is planned for the twelfth of June. All old students are interested in this occasion and will, no doubt, do all they can to make the day a success. All members of the association are kindly asked to promulgate the news as speedily and as extensively as possible, for a great day is in anticipation.

EDWYNA FORSYTH IS SECOND SPEAKER

DRAWING IS HELD YESTERDAY IN KANSAS CITY

CONTEST IS MAY 10

Only One More Stepping Stone to Washington After This Elimination—Are Six Contestants

Miss Edwyna Forsyth, Northwest Missouri's entry in the Kansas City Star's oratorical contest, will be the second speaker in the territory elimination to be held the night of May 10 at Ivanhoe temple, Kansas City.

The six group winners come from Northern Arkansas, Western Missouri, Southern Nebraska and all of Kansas. The following is the result of the drawing yesterday:

First speaker—Kendrick W. Brown, Boonville, Mo.

Second speaker—Miss Edwyna Forsyth, Maryville, Mo.

Third speaker—George Chumos, Topeka, Kan.

Fourth speaker—Manford Ettinger, Kansas City, Kan.

Fifth speaker—Clement Bollman, Springfield, Mo.

Sixth speaker—John Boyer, Wichita, Kan.

Awards offered by the Star of $750 for first place and $250 for second place await the victors. The victory carries with it not only these awards, but it means another lap out of the way in the race to Washington being participated in by the high school students of the nation.

Getting Close to Washington

The territory elimination comes on Saturday night. The following Friday night, May 16, comes the mid-west zone elimination, which takes in sixteen states, stretching from Wisconsin to the gulf. This event also will be at Ivanhoe temple conducted by the Star in conjunction with Randolph Leigh, national manager of the contest. Announcement of the details of this event will follow up the territory elimination.

Three prominent jurists of Kansas and Missouri will decide the two winners May 10. Their decisions will be announced and awards presented at the conclusion of the oration presentation. The band of the Kansas City, Kas., high school will introduce the event with patriotic selections played on the steps at the entrance of the temple.

Respect, the Purpose of Contest

As a synopsis of what has gone before, announcement of the national contest was made February 3. High school students of the nation started preparation of 12-minute orations, their purpose to increase respect for America's governmental instrument, the Constitution. A month later class eliminations were under way, each class selecting its best. In the Star's territory it was about March 21 that counties picked winners.

Thirty-six districts were divisioned off by a member of the Star's staff in charge of the contest. Each was visited personally and an able school man placed in authority in his district to conduct the eliminations. The county winners entered the district contests April 2, $21 being given by the Star in each of the thirty-six districts.

Then six groups were divisioned off, each group comprising six districts. Then came the group contests on April 9, which were held in Salina, Kas.; Emporia, Kas.; St. Joseph, Mo.; Kansas City, Sedalia, Mo.; and Springfield, Mo. These six winners are the competitors who will "fight it out" May 10 in Ivanhoe temple.

Field Day Observed by Students and Faculty

Lunch Served by Smith-Hughes Girls —Program by Various Organizations of H. S. is Given

"Field Day" was observed by the students and faculty of the Maryville High School today.

This morning, all those participating assembled at the high school building from where they went to the Henry Boatwright farm, five miles south of Maryville.

Lunch was served by the Smith-Hughes girls, after which a program prepared by William Gaugh, student president, was given.

The program consists of stunts by the various school clubs and the class in dramatics.

The "Field Day" has supplanted the old "Walk Out" day which was usually held in the fall.

AUTO CLUB WILL START CAMPAIGN

FOR MEMBERSHIP IN NEXT FEW DAYS

DIRECTORS IN MEETING

Last Evening—Sillers to Name Committee Today to be in Charge of Drive

A campaign for membership in the Automobile Club of Missouri will start within the next few days, it was decided at a meeting of the board of directors of the Maryville division last night.

George Sillers, president of the board, will name a committee late today to be in charge of the membership campaign.

Thirteen of the seventeen members of the board of directors were present last night. The meeting was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. George Sillers presided at the meeting. L. H. Brownfield, secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce, told of the meeting of the Missouri Commercial Secretaries Association at Jefferson City last night. He also gave some of the high points in the speech of B. H. Piepmeier, chief engineer of the State Highway Commission, who told of the necessity for securing more funds to speed up Missouri's road building program.

Mr. Brownfield also told of the work of the Automobile Club of Missouri in obtaining good roads throughout the state, and the necessity for supporting this organization.

The annual election of a member of the state board of governors will be held at the local office of the Automobile Club next Monday. George Sillers is the present member of the state board from the Maryville division. All members of the Automobile Club are eligible to vote, and Mr. Schumacher requests that the ballots be cast between noon and 3 p. m.

E. G. Orear Appointed on Building Committee

E. G. Orear of Maryville has just been appointed a member of the Pharmacy Headquarters Building Campaign Committee. This comes from the American Pharmaceutical Association, which organization is now engaged in raising a fund of 1 million dollars to erect, equip and maintain a headquarters building for American Pharmacy.

Premier Indorses Idea of General Conference

Stage is Set for Coolidge to Call Another Disarmament Parley—British Destroy Munitions

London, April 30.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald, speaking in the name of England in the House of Commons this afternoon, indorsed President Coolidge's suggestion of a general disarmament conference.

He declared it is the British policy to remove all political differences before discussing disarmament.

Washington April 30.—The stage is set for President Coolidge to call another international conference for the limitation of armaments—whenever in his opinion, conditions in Europe have reached a stage of stability that would be conducive to the success of such a gathering.

Both houses of Congress went on record today as indorsing the conference project. French opposition is considered the outstanding barrier to early acceptance.

Washington, April 30.—A million tons of ammunition and 170 tons of poison gas were destroyed by the British government in liquidating surplus war supplies, the department of commerce was informed today.

Most of the ammunition was sunk in the ocean and the gas was either burned or sunk.

Is Seventeenth Since January 1, 1924 —Bank at Browning, Mo. Closed by Directors

Jefferson City, April 30—Another bank failure, the seventeenth to occur in Missouri since the beginning of the present year, was reported to the state finance department today.

The Peoples Bank of Browning, Linn County, is the bank closed this morning by action of its directors.

McCray Is Sentenced to 10 Years in Pen

Former Indiana Governor Also Fined $10,000 by Judge A. B. Anderson This Morning

Indianapolis, Ind., April 30—Warren T. McCray, former governor of Indiana was sentenced to serve ten years in the Atlanta federal prison and fined $10,000 by Judge Albert B. Anderson this morning.

A few minutes before, he ceased to be governor of Indiana, his resignation becoming effective at 10 o'clock. Sentence was passed at 10:17 o'clock on his conviction on a charge of using the mails to promote a scheme to defraud.

RIGHT-OF-WAY MAY BE SIXTY FT. WIDE

ENGINEER CHECKS PORTION OF B. JCT. HIGHWAY

SIX MILES AFFECTED

Deeds to be Made Out Within Next Few Days—Road Contract May be Let Soon

A right-of-way, sixty feet wide, will be necessary on the Maryville-Burlington Junction road in order to get state and federal aid on this highway, according to C. J. Bussjaeger of the State Highway Department, who was in Maryville yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Bussjaeger was out on the road near Wilcox checking over the blue prints of this highway, preparatory to making out right-of-way deeds for this portion of the road, the surface of which is now only twenty-four feet wide. This was constructed under the old Morgan-McCullough law.

The road affected is for a distance of about six miles, beginning two and a half miles this side of Wilcox and extending three and a half miles on the other side. All the rest of the Burlington Junction road has the required sixty-foot right-of-way.

When federal work is started on this highway, it may be necessary for the farmers along this six mile portion to set their fences back accordingly. However, this will not be required unless a wider road is found necessary. But the right-of-way deeds which will be prepared within the next few days will make it possible for the state and government to obtain the required width, if it is found necessary.

It is expected that the contract for construction work on the Maryville-Burlington Junction road will be let next month by the State Highway Commission. The surface will be of gravel, which will be shipped in from a pit near Hannibal, Mo.

Friendly Reception to Laborites' New Budget

Places MacDonald Cabinet In Stronger Position—Leaders Say They Are Well Pleased.

London, April 30.—The friendly reception of the Labor government's first budget placed the MacDonald cabinet in a stronger position today.

Leaders of both the Labor and Liberal parties said they were well pleased with the budget, the Liberals claiming that it is a sign that the Laborites are willing to co-operate with them.

The condition of Dow Cook, invalid son of Prof. and Mrs. T. H. Cook, is very critical this afternoon and little hope is entertained for his recovery. His condition took a turn for the worse last Sunday.

COOLIDGE SWEEPS OHIO BY 150,000

COX LEADS M'ADOO BY ABOUT 50,000 VOTES

DAUGHERTY OVER TOO

Former Attorney-General Wins in Race for Delegate-at-Large—Cox Victory Means Much

Cleveland, Ohio., April 30. — President Calvin Coolidge, backed by the regular Republican organization throughout the state, has swept Ohio over Senator Hiram Johnson for the Republican Presidential indorsement, by a majority of approximately 150,000 it was estimated on the basis of figures received and tabulated from nearly 7,000 of the 8,350 precincts in the state.

On the face of the same returns, former Governor Cox had a majority of 50,000 over McAdoo, while the vote for deelgates-at-large did not measure up to that received on the preferential ballot, all of the Coolidge and Cox delegates, including Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney-general, storm center of a bitter personal and factional warfare, were safely elected.

An extremely light vote was east—not more than one in seven of the qualified voters going to the polls.

In a number of sections of the state, voters wrote in the name of Senator Robert M. Lafollette as a Republican Presidential candidate, and several reported a larger vote for him than for Senator Johnson.

Washington, April 30—James M. Cox, who led the hosts of Democrats to defeat in 1920, has been dealt a hand in the game of high strategy and shrewd tactics that will be played in Madison Square Garden in June, to select an opponent for Calvin Coolidge.

This was the principal reaction of Democratic leaders in the capital to the result of the Ohio primary, wherein the former governor easily defeated William G. McAdoo, and captured control of Ohio's large delegation to the Democratic national convention.

There is a distinctly friendly feeling existing between the Cox managers and the Tammany-Brennan-Taggart combination.

The Ohio delegation at New York is expected to vote for Cox in the early balloting, and if it becomes apparent that the former governor has no chance of again being nominated, it would not be surprising to see the Ohio strength lined up with that of New York, Indiana, New Jersey, and possibly Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

Barton-Dowis Case to Jury Tomorrow

ANNOUNCEMENT

To the Democratic Voters: I hereby announce myself for Sheriff of Nodaway County, subject to the Democratic Primary, August 5, 1924.

HARVE ENGLAND.

THE PRESIDENTIAL TIME.

Along with much approval, President Coolidge has incurred considerable criticism for giving up the good old presidential custom of shaking hands with all who care to come and see him at the White House. There seems to be many people who regard promiscuous handshaking as one of the principal duties of the Chief Executive, and an inalienable right of every American citizen. To refuse to gratify the popular desire for this intimate touch between citizens and ruler, they hold, is undemocratic and un-American.

A little figuring, however, may help to set the matter straight. A mathematician finds that there are a little more than 126,000,000 seconds in the four years that constitute a President's normal term of office. If the President, therefore, were to shake hands with the entire population—which seems to be the ideal of the handshaking advocates—it would take just about five-sixths of his time for four years if he gave one second to every handshake and there were no repeaters. That would leave the President four hours a day for eating, sleeping and taking care of the nation's business.

SOME MORE ABOUT THE EINSTEIN THEORY.

The Einstein theory of relativity has been proven. At least Dr. Charles E. St. John, solar physcist of the Mt. Wilson observatory staff at Pasadena and identified closely with important investigations concerning the Einstein theory, claims so.

The third prediction in the general theory of relativity, the gravitational displacement of solar spectrum lines, whatever that means, has been demonstrated by recent astronimical observations, Dr. St. John avers. This, summed up, means that proof has been adduced that there is an absence of pressure in the sun's atmosphere. Einstein himself attached the greatest importance to the proving of this so-called third prediction as possibly supporting the entirety of the relativity theory.

As Chief Rain-in-the-Face used to say, "It is well." Not that there will be a great deal of difference in railroad schedules or income tax requirements or change the face of political things, but it is a good thing to know, nevertheless. There is only one improvement which might be suggested for the theory. It should be so simplified that it could be put out in primer form for consumption by the layman.

A FOOD WITH POWER IN IT.

Residents of Chicago recently were treated to the spectacle of a railroad train run with dried milk as fuel. The health authorities of the city staged the event. It was done, not to advocate the use of dehydrated milk as fuel, but in order that the people of Chicago might have a graphic lesson of the energy stored within milk.

A food that is as digestible as milk and that has within it sufficient energy to propel a railroad train needs no further recommendation. The remarkable part of the matter is that so few people use milk as a beverage. Less tea and coffee, though these drinks have their place in American menus, and more milk will be to advantage of the American people. The food that can run a train can also nourish the human body and those who depend upon it for nourishment usually enjoy better health than those who give it no place in their diet.

The fishing season is on. Some are fishing for speckled beauties and some for freckled ones.

Everything is said to have a purpose in this world. If it were not for the flies some men would never get any exercise in summer time at all.

Training up little girls to appear on the public stage with bare legs has only one thing to recommend it. It would seem to be economical.

The area of Missouri is larger than any other state bordering on the Mississippi River says the Hannibal Courier-Post, except Minnesota, and greater than the combined areas of Maine, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Delaware, leaving ample space remaining for another state equally as large as Rhode Island.

Forumettes

It seldom is wise
To accept any man
At his own valuation
Or his own estimation.

Among the misleading phrases "ready money."

Have you ever noticed that the people who admire you are always pleasant company?

In our favorite Main street cigar store the other evening we heard an amusing story which we know the readers of the Democrat-Forum will enjoy. Here it is:

A physician's small daughter was sent to her bed just before her father's return from his calls. Hearing him enter some time later, the young miss called down:

"Mamma, I want to see Daddy."

There was no response from below. A moment later:

"Mamma, please let Daddy get me a drink of water."

When that, too, failed, a small white figure came to the head of the stairs and said sternly:

"Mrs. Mathews, I am a very sick woman. I must see my doctor at once."

Needless to say, the doctor went up.

Uncle Abner, the town philosopher, says it is always safe to aim at the top as then you may hit about the middle.

A friendly salesman at a Main street haberdashery tells us that there is a bigger demand for four-in-hand than bow ties as it is more difficult to master the proper tying of the latter and the average man has not enough patience to keep at it until he is able to put up a respectable looking bow. Most of the bow ties worn are those little factory tied arrangements which fasten around the neck with garter moorings.

There are a lot of people in Maryville who tell the truth only for the purpose of stirring up trouble.

Louise, the stenographer, says it always makes her peeved to have some one tell her a thing is as plain as the nose on her face.

Among the gentle lies heard in Maryville every day may be put "I will pay you back next week."

Judging from the attitude of a lot of Maryville people, promises were made only to be broken.

Vagrant Musings.

The only thing which will make a woman jump quicker than the sight of a mouse is a proposal of marriage.

There is no limit to the extent truth can be stretched by some people.

Today's Vaudeville Patter.

Biff—So your wife did not accept you the first time you proposed?

Bang—I say she did.

Biff—But you just got through telling me she threw you down.

Bang—She did and held me there until I forked over the ring.

Hopkins R. C. Juniors Prepare a Portfolio

A unique portfolio describing the features of Nodaway County, with several photo illustrations has been prepared by the Junior Red Cross of the fifth and sixth grades of the Hopkins school under the direction of Mrs. Besse Killam and is being sent out today by Miss Margaret Louise Hosmer, chapter chairman of Junior Red Cross, to the Rehoboth Mission School at Rehoboth, New Mexico.

This portfolio is in exchange for a portfolio and doll prepared by the Navajo Indians in this school which was sent here recently. The Hopkins pupils spent much time on the cover for the portfolio and is a good piece of art work.

The pupils of the Junior Red Cross of the seventh and eighth grades of the Hopkins school under the direction of Mrs. Whitney recently made twenty scrap books which contained jokes, letters, clippings and a pretty cover that were sent to the United States Veterans' Hospital 55, at Fort Fayrd, N. M. Two of these books were sent to a Nodaway County boy who is in a government hospital at Legion, Tenn.

Best of Material Is Used in Road Work

Every Shipment of Cement, Stone, Gravel, Sand and Steel Carefully Inspected by Commission

The State Highway Commission is seeking to construct roads only from the best material available in the state. For that reason every shipment of cement, stone, gravel, sand and steel that goes into a highway or a bridge is carefully inspected in advance.

Last year the testing laboratory of the Highway Commission made 5,375 laborartory tests of road building material. In addition field tests were made on 14,523 cars of cement, sand, gravel and stone. If placed in trains this material would fill a continuous line of freight cars extending over a distance of 123 miles, reaching as far as the distance from Jefferson City to St. Louis. These cars would make 290 trains of 50 cars each.

This does not include bridge timber, piling, and reinforcing steel of which 981,700 board feet, 92,00 lineal feet, and 12,000,000 pounds, respectively, were tested. All of this material was carefully tested by the State Highway Department.

Competition Keen in Construction

The State Highway Commission has held a number of road lettings this spring and the competition among contractors for these jobs has been spirited. The result has been to keep road building prices down to the minimum thereby saving the state much money.

At the letting in April for every job there was an average of five bids submitted. Some of the road jobs had as many as 10 competitive bids submitted. The bids are opened and read in public and broadcasted by wireless from the Capitol Building.

Six Miles of Bridges

Just to show what a gigantic task it is to construct highways in Missouri the figures from the report of the Bridge Engineer of the State Highway Commission lets a little light on this subject.

the Republican party of the state and has been mentioned several times as a candidate for United States Senator and governor but each time he declined to enter the race for political office. That Mr. Pierce could have been named as Republican national committeeman at the Springfield convention this week is admitted but his well-known desire not to seek any office which would take him away from his business here checked such a candidacy.

His many friends of both parties here at home are glad to have their fellow-townsman honored by being elected as a delegate-at-large. This honor has not been conferred on many men from the country- especially when they have been selected twice as a delegate-at-large by their party.

Will Attend Missouri Association Meet

The annual meeting of the Missouri Association will be held in St. Louis tomorrow. J. F. Hull of this city, who is president of the association, left Springfield today, where he has been attending the Republican state convention, for St. Louis to attend the meeting. W. C. Pierce, W. F. Phares, L. M. Eek and Roy Curfman of Maryville who also attended the Republican convention, accompanied Mr. Hull to St. Louis for the association meeting.

New officers will be elected at the meeting tomorrow. The annual report of the activities of the association will be given by George A. Pickens, secretary of the association.

Verts Home from Rochester

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Vert returned this morning from Rochester, Minn., where the latter went three weeks ago to undergo treatment at the Mayo hospital. Mrs. Vert also underwent a minor operation and her condition is very much improved now.

The True Story of Woodrow Wilson

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

CHAPTER VIII.

In the entire eight years of the Wilson regime not a single individual was ever invited to the White House to luncheon or dinner for the purpose of exercising a political influence upon him. This was true both as to Mr. Wilson and every member of his family. Few people in official and political life were there at all en famille. This is hard to realize but it is true. There were scores of cases when an invitation to a Senator or Representative or to the wives of members of Congress, for family dinner at the White House might have gained for Mr. Wilson the support of certain influential leaders. But he rebelled at the thought of using the White House table to advance his political fortunes.

"On two counts," he once said to a friend, "I will not permit my home to be used for political purposes. One is that if I make an intimate of a man in politics it isn't long before he wants me to do something which I ought not to do. The other is that if I have a certain senator stay to luncheon he goes back to the Senate and casually remarks in the cloak rooms where the senators sit around smoking and talking: 'The President said to me at luncheon at the White House today, x x x' and so on. Here in Washington there is such a craving to get close to the presidency—as if there was something really important about it that would rub off, that many can not resist the inclination to brag and boast that they are in the President's confidence. This not only may hurt some good friend and supporter who has not been to the White House for luncheon, but in time it may destroy the effectiveness of others who had been at lunch. The others may become jealous and refuse to work with him. His leadership, if he has any, is likely to be destroyed. All of this simply means that a President must isolate himself during his term of office."

This attitude on the part of Mr. Wilson was never thoroughly understood by the people of Washington. Loyal supporters and friends of Mr. Wilson's own party felt hurt by it and some became critical of it. The Wilsons earned the reputation of being exclusive simply because they did not invite leaders, so-called leaders, self-imagined leaders, political characters and others to the White House. As a matter of fact there was a simple endeavor on Mr. Wilson's part to play no favorites.

"I can't have the whole Senate to lunch," he commented, "so I can not have any of them. The moment I make an intimate of anyone, other good friends of whom I am just as fond, are hurt because they think they are slighted."

The same policy was followed by Mr. Wilson in his daily game of golf. On a few occasions Colonel House went to the golf course with him but as the Colonel did not play he walked about the course or waited for the President on a seat beside a tee. Dr. Cary T. Grayson, Mr. Wilson's physician, was a constant golf companion. No one could feel slighted, Mr. Wilson thought, if he played golf with his physician. After his second marriage Mr. Wilson occasionally took his wife to the golf course and she played several weeks but the Virginia hills were much too hard to climb and Dr. Grayson again became the golf partner continuing until Mr. Wilson was stricken. Woodrow Wilson declined any special consideration at the club house because he was President. He dressed at the White House and at the conclusion of his game donned his sweater or coat and rode back to the Executive Mansion for a shower. He was always a "regular fellow" with other players he encountered on the course. Frequently those in front would ask him to play through but he would not take advantage of the offer extended him because he was President of the United States. As a result members of the club would pretend to lose a ball which of course gave him the right of way through. He invariably made some pleasant remark about the game, the weather or the incident of the play and thanked the player who let him pass.

"If I could just hit the ball as squarely as I hit these daisies I could play a great game," he remarked on one occasion while he swung at several daisies growing on the green clipping the heads off each. "My right eye," he explained to a group of golfers, "is like a horse's. I can see straight out with it but not sideways. As a result I can not take a full swing because my nose gets in the way and cuts off my view of the ball. That is the reason I use a short swing."

The day after election in 1916, the President and Dr. Grayson were playing No. 18 when they passed other players going down to No. 1.

Mr. Wilson waved his hand and called back "Grayson has me three down, but I don't care I am four states up on yesterday's election."

Although the Virginia course which he played was a hard one he made it in the nineties, sometimes getting as low as 92.

Mr. Wilson really never took up golf seriously until after he entered public life. There is no doubt that the watchful attention given him at the White House, the insistence on recreation every day, had much to do with the prolongation of his life. From a frail individual who never seemed in good health while at Princeton, the same man began to glow with the vigor of health after he reached the White House.

Mr. Wilson used to say that he needed eight hours sleep but required nine. He was one of the few persons who could fall fast asleep sitting in the front seat of an automobile or in a Pullman chair. He disliked ice water and always had difficulty getting what he wanted when he ordered cooled water. He did not take cream in his coffee. He drank moderately. Some of the newspa, men who accompanied him on the naval yacht "Sylph" down the Potomac to Alexandria on Washington's Birthday just after Secretary Daniels had made the navy "dry," remember his discomfiture when he discovered that the dry order was being literally obeyed and that nobody on board had a stimulant. Mr. Wilson felt in need of it as he had been suffering from a cold for several days and the icy blasts sweeping across the river did not make him feel any better. What Mr. Wilson thought or said about the "dry" order that day was not made public.

WAS DRAGGED FROM GRAVE, STATES PURYEAR

JOS. N. PURYEAR

"I never expected to pull through and my friends thought I was as good as gone, but thanks to Karnak I am able to return to work for the first time in two years," is the remarkable statement made by Mr. Joseph N. Puryear, 1812 Agnes St., Kansas City, Mo. in describing his extraordinary experience with the sensational new medicine.

"For five years I had suffered almost unbearably with stomach trouble and for the last year and a half I could not even take water, milk, or anything else on my stomach without becoming so nauseated I could not retain it. My stomach stayed sour as vinegar, my complexion was as yellow as a pumpkin and I was so weak I could not even walk up a flight of stairs. It looked like my time had surely come.

"Karnak seemed to give me a new lease on life. My troubles have disappeared, I have gained weight, and am feeling fine. The medicine was a godsend to me, and I believe it will help anybody."

Tarkington's First A Meighan Knockout

Booth Tarkington's done it—written an original story for the screen—and for Tom Meighan at that. It's "Pied Piper Malone," which opens at the Empire Theatre tonight and tomorrow, a comedy-drama with the star in the role of Jack Malone, third mate of the S. S. Langland, Captain Clarke in command. George Fawcett plays the Captain. Malone is a regular "Pied Piper" to all the kiddies in town. He is "Uncle Jack" to all.

In this case there's not a girl in every port, only in Oldport. Jack's home town, and that's Patty Thomas, the mayor's daughter. Lois Wilson has this part. Charlie Crosby (Cyril Ring,) second officer of the Langland, has always claimed Patty as his girl. There is great rivalry between the two men.

Malone is unjustly accused of the responsibility for the loss of the Langland while under the influence of liquor when on duty. Only his parents, Patty and the children, believe in him. He beats up Charlie Crosby, when he finds him urging Captain Clarke to "have another" on him in Oldport's only blind tiger. He brings Clarke back into the good graces of the community the latter in turn sets Jack aright with the townfolk. Malone gets another vessel for Clarke and sails himself as first officer. Patty is on the dock to see them off. She will be waiting—for Jack when they return.

CUMMINGS TOUTED FOR NOMINATION

AT NEW YORK BY CONNECTICUT DEMOCRATS

SMITH SECOND - CHOICE

Will Make Effort to Pledge Delegates at State Convention May 7-8 for Cummings

Hartford, Conn., April 30.—Connecticut Democrats firmly believe Homer S. Cummings, once chairman of the Democratic National Committee, will be nominated for President at the New York convention in June. "History will repeat itself," they say. Then they point out that four years ago, when the Republicans named an Ohio newspaperman for their candidate, the Democratic party followed suit by naming an Ohio newspaperman. Connecticut Democrats believe that a New England lawyer will be named as the Republican candidate for President at Cleveland. That lawyer is Calvin Coolidge. Therefore, the Democratic convention will name a New England lawyer also. Their lawyer is Homer S. Cummings.

"But suppose history repeats another way?" is a question put to Connecticut Democrats. "The last New York convention of the party named a New Yorker for the Presidency. Suppose this one should be stampeded for a New Yorker. What then?"

"Then we are for the candidate. Governor Smith is second choice of Connecticut Democrats."

Connecticut Democrats hold their State convention May 7 and 8 to name delegates to New York's convention. An effort is already under way to have the delegates pledged to Cummings. Eastern Connecticut stronghold of the old-line Democrats, is today the center of the Cummings movement. The Greenwich-Stamford district, home of Cummings and likewise home of hundreds of New York business and professional men, is expressing no loud opinion. Democrats there are waiting, but they are abundantly prepared to support Cummings.

Connecticut Republicans, uninstructed as to candidates at Cleveland, are believed, nevertheless, to be for President Coolidge. J. Henry Roraback, national committeeman is to head the delegation from this State.

CONCEPTION COLLEGE NOTES

Easter Week afforded a real variety of occasions of diversion for the students. On the Monday after Easter a number of the students under the auspices of the Booster's Club, enjoyed an excursion to points in Iowa. The trip was made in autos and included Clarinda for a short visit at the state hospital, and Shenandoah where Henry Field's seed farm was the chief object of interest. Thursday evening and again Saturday afternoon the College band filled engagements at the Holy Family Church fair which proved opportune occasions for the musicians to exhibit the fruit of serious application in the rehearsal room.

On Tuesday 29th the Morning Star staff enjoyed their annual banquet with courses in true Lucullen style in the dining hall of Diebold's Cafe. After the last course was removed, the toastmaster, Mr. J. A. McCaffrey, called upon Mr. Coleman and Mr. Stremel. Mr. Coleman's treatment of his subject, "Journalism," showed a comprehensive knowledge in the field. Mr. Stremel spoke very pointedly on the "Art of Meeting the Public." At the end of Mr. Stremel's discourse, the toastmaster called upon the Rev. Censor, Father Isidore, O. S. B., for a few remarks, which were well received by the staff.

Swan Chapel

The third quarterly meeting of Graham charge will be held next Sunday, May 4, at Swan Chapel. There will be preaching at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m., followed by the quarterly conference. There will be a basket dinner at the church. You are invited to spend the day with us.

Kellogg's Bran delights father by bringing health to children

Poor little kids—they needed bran badly. But they wouldn't eat ordinary brans. They didn't like them. Most folks don't. Then their father tried Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. What a difference! He tells the story in his letter:

"Dear Sirs:
I wish to express my appreciation of your krumbled bran, which I have used for my children this summer. We had a great deal of trouble with them through constipation, and bran had been the most satisfactory remedy but they could not be induced to take the old varieties . . . because they disliked them so. They enjoy the krumbled bran and consider it an essential ingredient of their porridge. No one whose children have not been troubled in this way can appreciate the relief there is in having their bowels move regularly."
(The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Constipation is a dangerous disease. It should not be neglected. But do not try halfway measures in seeking relief. Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran. And it takes ALL bran to be 100% effective. Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to bring permanent relief, if eaten regularly, in the most chronic cases. If it fails, your grocer will return your money.

Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream. The flavor is delicious. Sprinkle it on other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes on every package. It will bring you health. Begin eating it to-day. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

TO PROVIDE CONFERENCE ARMS LIMITATION

JAPAN'S WAR ATTITUDE

Seems to Be Halted—Big Question Who Will Be Nominated as Coolidge's Running Mate

Washington, D. C., April 30—Just the other day the Republican organization in the House defeated the efforts of Mr. Moore of Virginia to provide for the calling of another conference for the limitation of armaments. No Republican raised his voice in support of the proposal; appeals from the Democratic side fell on deaf ears. But conditions have changed; that which created no enthusiasm when proposed by a Democrat, now that it comes from President Coolidge finds the Republican leaders in rapturous accord. When the President declared for such a conference in his speech before the Associated Press gathering in New York the Republican chorus in Washington at once took up the refrain, but again it has happened that the Democrats have had to drag a Republican President into this worthy move "by the scruff of his neck." President Harding had to be shown the way in similar manner. Whether Mr. Coolidge accomplishes anything with his new move for a conference remains to be seen, but it is surely a fact that Mr. Byrnes of South Carolina and Mr. Moore of Virginia have blazed the way for him in fine fashion.

Japan seems to have halted her warlike attitude, but has retracted nothing whatsoever—in fact, Hanihara's note insists that the results will be grave consequences, such as loss of confidence, friendship, etc. It is hardly necessary to say that such conditions as he forsees can easily, at a moment's notice, change into open war. The general verdict is that the only reason why Japan does not make war now is that she is somewhat crippled as a result of the earthquake, but the fact remains that she has more than twice the weight of modern cruisers compared with the United States, in spite of the much boasted conference brought about by President Harding just a few months after he had rejected the plan when it came from the Democrats of Congress. That conference succeeded only in arranging for a certain limitation in the heavy battleships, while Japan retains a great superiority in fast cruisers, which are in some respects more useful in war than the heavier battleships.

The administration still resists all efforts on the part of the Filipinos to secure their long-promises independence as well as all moves on the part of the Democrats in Congress to remove this burden from our shoulders—this constant source of weakness and danger. We are not far removed from war with Japan at this hour; it is almost certain to come within a few years. The Japanese leaders claim that they have been insulted in being grouped with the other yellow races. Of course, no such thing was intended. The fact seems to be that they are rather easily insulted, but be that as it may they merely await a more favorable moment to attack this country. If, when that day comes we still have the Philippines to defend, they will constitute a severe handicap. We will be forced to defend them and conduct a war at a distance of six thousand miles from our back door—the western coast, where our thinnest population is, thousands of miles from our heaviest population and resources. Japan's recent and present attitude should give us such warning as to what to expect that we need not be caught unprepared, and the first move in our preparedness should be that of cutting loose from the Philippines. If they are not yet fully prepared for self-government, as some claim, we can continue to aid and guide them with expert advisers, while releasing all military occupation and control. But they are a bright and capable people who have made great strides since the blighting rule of Spain was lifted and can well be trusted to make their way alone.

It is, of course, a foregone conclusion that Coolidge will be nominated at Cleveland. The only question unanswered in connection with the convention is as to his running mate. It will probably not be Dawes, who is highly objectionable to labor—it looks more like Kenyon of Iowa, pleasing to labor and to the northwestern progressive vote, though it will be noted that the Republican strategy would gain no states by reason of the geographical location of the two candidates—Massachusetts and Iowa should surely be counted by them as safely Republican if the party expects to get anywhere in the contest. Of course Kenyon's nomination would be only a sop to the progressives, for as Vice-President, if elected, he would have no part in making policies. On the Democratic side there is much hurrying to and fro, with many good men offering or being offered, and such a swing toward the Democrats that the nomination seems well worth fighting for. McAdoo, Underwood, John W. Davis and Jonathan Davis, Cox, Ralston, Cummings, Robinson, Gardner, Glass, Smith, Marshall and Copeland. There is an array sufficient to give every Democrat a choice; no doubt others may go to the post, assuring a full field. There is talk of the old plan of years ago—that of going after the electoral votes of New York and Indiana, with the same feeling that possession of those states, with the solid South, would mean a certain victory. New York offers Governor Smith and Senator Copeland; Indiana has Senator Ralston and former Vice-President Tom Marshall, so that if that idea prevails, there is still abundant good material. And there is some reason in the old logic today, for if the Democrats can bag the vote in New York the Republicans are beaten; if they can also get Indiana, the Republicans are overwhelmed. That the progressives will cost them a number of electoral votes in the Northwest cannot be doubted.

Care and Management of Early Hatched Chicks During Danger Period

By EARL M. WHITNEY

Much has been written of the "danger period" in chick raising. Just now with the early hatching season in full swing, it seems particularly appropriate to discuss this subject, as it is an all-absorbing topic with poultry raisers who sincerely wish to overcome the disadvantages that heretofore have made chick rearing a hazardous undertaking for them.

To begin with, what is this danger period in chick raising, how long does it last, can it be overcome and how? These are some of the questions that come to the writer's desk every day. It is pathetic to note the fear of these questioners as to the possibility of any other than an expert undertaking to raise baby chicks at all. There is cause for this attitude.

Too much of the material that has been written on this subject has tended to discourage the early raising of chicks because of the innumerable "pitfalls" discussed. True, there are pitfalls, but for every pitfall there are a dozen sane remedies that anyone of average common sense and mentality can successfully employ.

Early raising of chicks therefore is no longer a hazardous undertaking, as it perhaps was some ten or fifteen years ago, and any idea to the contrary is erroneous to an extreme.

Chick Raising Now Easy.

Despite the unintentional propaganda of some who, in seeking to aid, actually "scare off" people from the chick industry, the assertion is here made that chick raising today is easy and simple when the modern methods so readily within the reach of all are practiced.

Let us return then to the questions. What is the danger period, how long does it last, can it be overcome and how? The answers to these questions comprise the rules for the correct raising of chicks. The danger period is the first six weeks of the chick's life. It is the time in the chick's life when, like the babe in the human family, its vitality is tested the most because it is going through more physical adjustments than it will be called upon to endure at any later stage of its existence.

Three Big Essentials to Success.

Upon the care and attention given the early hatched chick depends your success or failure during the fall and winter season. Modern science has made it possible to save the early chicks as easily as those that are raised during the natural hatching season. There are three big essentials which must be closely adhered to. These essentials are so simple that their importance is often overlooked, and as a result disaster comes.

Now the first essential is health in the parent stock from which the hatching eggs come. One should know something of the history of the parent stock, that it is strong, sturdy and vigorous and that it is productive. That lessens the danger of hatching weak chicks to a very large degree. Second is correct brooding. Many a perfect hatch has been ruined through carelessness and neglect in brooding. The temperature of the brooder has been allowed to vary too much and the chicks have been chilled at one time and too warm at another. They have been overheated and overcooled. This condition can be overcome by the simple plan of setting up and regulating the brooder well in advance of the arrival of chicks so that you know an even temperature can be maintained.

The brooding temperature should be about 98 degrees around the deflector without overheating the room. This gives a zone growing cooler from the hover towards the walls of the brooding room in which the chicks can find range for exercise in a temperature suited to their liking. At night a wire netting should be placed in a circle around the hover, one to two feet from the outer edge, to prevent the chicks from getting too far away from the heat.

When chicks tend to pile up and chirp almost continuously, it is pretty good evidence that the heat is insufficient. If they are comfortable at night they will be spread out over the floor near the edge of the hover in a most contented manner. An important point in correct brooding is good ventilation. Chicks must have plenty of fresh air without inflicting any draft upon them.

As the chicks grow older, the temperature under the hover may be reduced, the actions of the little ones themselves being your guide in this particular. Cleanliness should be the watchword in brooding. The least sign of vermin means disease. Overcrowding should also be avoided. Better too few than too many. Play safe and brood about half the number that the hover is said to accommodate.

Importance of Proper Feeding.

The third and final of the three big essentials is proper feeding. This is the simplest and easiest of the three because quality chick foods are now ready made and within the reach of all. Full directions come with these foods and the quality brand may be relied upon to grow the chicks skillfully and well. It is merely a matter of following directions.

In this connection the reader is advised to write the Pratt Poultry Institute, Philadelphia, Pa., for the free bulletins on chick brooding and feeding issued by this poultry investigational institution, whose force of experts is constantly experimenting to find, if possible, still better and easier means of reducing chick mortality.

The care of hen-hatched chicks will be discussed in a later article.

Plow and Disc Land for Russell Sportsman

A company of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Russell Sportsman, two miles southwest of Pickering, yesterday afternoon to disc and plow his ground for him. Mr. Sportsman left Monday with his wife for Kansas City, taking her to the Research hospital there for treatment. Mr. Sportsman suffered a relapse after an illness of measles in February and has been bedfast ever since. The following men assisted in the work yesterday: Loren Hackett, Ed Shreve, Ed Wiley, George Burch, Burley Gray, Joe Farrar, Marion Gray, Ira Thompson, Jim Lett, Geo. Golay, George Bosch, Russell Burks and Charley Stafford. Mr. Sportsman returned from Kansas City last night.

Salts Fine for Aching Kidneys

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys as You Clean Your Bowels

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Funds Divided for Road Work

Missouri Will Spend $6,347,820 on the Highways in 1924.

Jefferson City, April 30.—A total of $6,347,820 is to be spent on Missouri's state road system this year and the apportionment of these funds just has been completed by B. H. Piepmeier, chief engineer of the state highway department. The apportionment makes provision for the expenditure of $1,599,820 on the main cross-state road from St. Louis to Kansas City, known as highway No. 2.

The chief engineer said it is expected this amount will permit the completion of grading the road for the entire 246 miles. Eventually, when completed, it is to be paved with concrete.

Appointment of the 1924 funds for the primary roads, as announced by the engineer:

No. 1, Maryville-Kansas City-Joplin, $1,062,000; No. 2, St. Louis-Kansas City, $1,599,820; No. 3, Springfield-Sedalia-Trenton, $460,000; No. 7, Kirksville-Jefferson City, $370,000; No. 8, Hannibal-St.Joseph, $920,000; No. 9, Hannibal-St. Louis-New Madrid, $1,187,000; No. 13, Warrensburg-Higginsville, $89,000; No. 14, St. Louis-Springfield-Joplin, $660,000.

Under the Missouri road laws, about one-third of the annual road funds are to be used on the primary system and the other two-thirds is to be used on the secondary road system. Apportionment of the funds for the secondary system is governed by a ratio fixed by statute.

Mrs. David Crater, Mrs. George Ellsworth, the Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Anness and Mr. and Mrs. George Deshazer of Ravenwood visited in Maryville yesterday.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

FIRST AID CAR AT CONCEPTION FRIDAY

METHODS OF 1ST AID

To Shopmen and R. R. Employes to be Given—Public Is Invited to Attend Lectures and Inspect Car.

An American Red Cross First Aid demonstration car, a unique "university on wheels," which is making a tour over the Great Western Railroad system, will stop in Conception Junction Friday of this week and remain there all day, according to an announcement made this morning by Miss Betty Turner, executive secretary of the Nodaway County Red Cross Chapter.

Miss Turner said this morning that arrangements are being made to give practical methods of first aid to shopmen and other railway employes, and the public is invited to attend the free lectures and inspect the interesting exhibits in the car any time during the day. A special staff of physicians and nurses accompany this car, which is especially fitted for demonstrations of first aid treatment.

It is expected that several members of the Red Cross Chapter in Maryville and the Red Cross officers will be at Conception Junction on Friday. Miss Turner said that an experienced newspaper man is traveling on the car as publicity representative.

With the co-operation of the Chicago Great Western, the car is traveling over the entire system, visiting all the principal cities and towns enroute. Since the beginning of its present tour of the country's railroads, the car has traveled over the entire Baltimore & Ohio and the Illinois Central systems.

More than 100,000 people have inspected the car and attended the demonstrations on board during these trips. In addition, graphic demonstrations of first aid methods have been in public and high schools before at least 40,000. This heavy attendance is partly explained by the fact that the lectures by the staff of surgeons and first aid experts on board are so simplified and condensed that they are readily understood by everyone attending. Although brief and to the point, they constitute a most comprehensive course in first aid.

"Attendance at these meetings may be the means of saving life—perhaps your own," is the slogan of the experts aboard the car.

So popular and instructive have these demonstrations become that it has been found impossible to meet all of the demands for the car's presence in the states it visits. Governors of several states toured have issued proclamations advising all citizens to visit the car and profit by the lectures given. Other state executives have regarded the demonstrations as of so much importance that recommendations to embody Red Cross First Aid instructions in the schools have been laid before the legislature.

In renewing its traveling First Aid demonstrations at this time, the American Red Cross picks the moment when the annual toll of fatal accidents in the United States exceeds the American casualties during the World War. Contrary to the general impression, official statistics show that a majority of our annual accidents happen in and around the home. Inability to perform even the simplest technique of first aid before the doctor arrives, too often results in the death or permanent disability of the injured person.

The Red Cross First Aid course has been tried and found a complete success by some of the country's largest industries, many of which have formed first aid teams which compete in expert demonstrations for prizes donated by the companies. In some of the large cities applicants for positions on the police and fire departments are required to show that they first have qualified in Red Cross First Aid.

Throughout the country many thousands of people qualify every year and receive their Red Cross First Aid certificates. The local chapter of the Red Cross is co-operating with the campaign conducted by the First Aid Instruction car, and is ready at all times to give information regarding the organization of first aid classes.

The Red Cross First Aid car that will visit Conception Junction, is of a special type and contains a large lecture room. It is fully equipped for interesting demonstrations in first aid by the surgeons who live on board the car during its long trips.

Until 1917, when the Red Cross concentrated every effort of its great organization upon war work, its first aid cars covered sixty-two railroads, ten of which were covered twice and eleven three times by public demand. During these trips the car traveled a distance of equal to eight times the circuit of the world, or 203,000 miles. Nearly 8,000 first aid demonstrations were given and more than 1,000,000 people reached.
